

Maids Contest Radically Changed

Result of Count Monday Night Is Proof of Interest

Many Changes In Standing Evidenced By Latest Tubulation.

COUNT THURSDAY Committee Announces Will Make One More Count Before Finals

The committee having charge of the Maids Contest for the Melon Festival tabulated the votes last night, the result being given herewith. The committee announces that to avoid the extra heavy final tabulation they will count the vote again Thursday night, announcing it Friday, and that will be the last until the contest closes Saturday night and results announced Monday.

A glance at the results will show the interest being manifested in the race in the several townships in the county. In nearly all of them there has been a decided change in the standing and in every instance the final results are in doubt.

Parade of the girls chosen as maids and the selection of a queen will be at a public ceremony to be held either Monday or Tuesday nights, exact date to be announced later. Judges who will select the queen have been chosen but not made public.

Maids and supporters are urgent ly requested to get as many votes as possible for the Thursday count in this way aiding the committee materially in completing the final tabulation and making final announcement as to the chosen ones.

Last Call for Legion Caps for Use At Festival

Dewey Hendricks at Patterson's says if Legionnaires will get their orders in to him by Wednesday afternoon he will have a Legion cap here for him. These caps will distinguish the ex-service men on duty here that day—members of the local post—and every Legionnaire is urged to get one.

Recruiting Office Now Located Here

Recruiting Officer To Be Stationed Here for Some Time.

A permanent recruiting office for army service has been established in the local federal building, with Recruiting officer C. P. Taylor in charge, and a cordial invitation is extended young men to call and learn something of the opportunities offered them.

According to Mr. Taylor, vacancies in the service exist in the cavalry at Ft. Riley, Kas., and Ft. Meade, S. D.; in the infantry at Ft. Snelling, Minn., Ft. Crook, Neb., Ft. Omaha, Neb., and Ft. Demolines, Iowa; in field artillery at Ft. Robinson, Neb., while other vacancies are occurring from time to time in all branches of the service.

Peak of Harvest Reached This Week

NASHVILLE, July 23.—(AP)—The peak of the movement of peaches from the Highland district is on this week, heavy shipments starting from all orchards in the district Monday. Fairly heavy shipments went out from some of the orchards Sunday, it being found necessary to harvest in several of the orchards that day because of the ripening conditions. The heavy movement will continue for this week perhaps a big day.

The market holds firm and fair prices are quoted for the high class fruit from all sections. The color and texture of the fruit is excellent.

The continued dry, hot weather, it is believed, will cut down the production of the district considerable. The estimate of the crop was at first considered very conservative, but the dry weather has retarded growth and the crop will not reach the estimate, orchardists believe.

'Bogie' Behind In Race Against River

Speedy Craft Damaged When Strikes Submerged Timber.

HELENA, Ark., July 23.—(AP)—The speed boat "Bogie," trying to beat the 59-year record of the Robert E. Lee up the Mississippi river from New Orleans to St. Louis, made a belated arrival at Rosedale, Miss., shortly before ten o'clock this morning.

Dr. Louis LeRoy, Memphis sportsman and owner of the craft, reported that about an hour out of Greenville, Miss., the boat struck a submerged log, damaging the propeller and bending the drive shaft and as a result the "Bogie" was about eight hours behind her schedule at Rosedale.

When the "Bogie" left Greenville at 8:50 last night it was six hours ahead of the time in the run made by the Robert E. Lee. That record was established in 1870 in the historic river race between the "Robert E. Lee" and the "Natchez," and it still stands, despite three assaults upon it by more modern and faster craft.

'St. Louis Robin' Nears End of Long Endurance Flight

Refueled With Light Load Today and Sails Over Waiting Crowd.

NEW MARK TODAY At Two O'Clock Will Equal Sustained Flight Record.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—(AP)—The "St. Louis Robin" hovered over Lambert-St. Louis field today as crowds gathered to watch it reeling off the last few hours of its effort to establish a new endurance flight record.

At 10:17 this morning the fliers had been up 243 hours, just 3:43:32 short of the record set by the "Angeleno" recently at Culver City, California.

The endurance plane pilots, Dale "Red" Jackson and Forrest O'Brien took on a light load of 60 gallons of gasoline at the morning's refueling as it entered its seventh day of flying at 7:17 a. m. and then began making wide circles over the field.

Think Daniel Boone Carved Turtle's Shell

INDIANAPOLIS, July 23.—(AP)—Because its undershell bore the inscription "D. Boone, 1760," a small ordinary looking turtle has come under official notice.

The turtle was found by Ralph Lyons of Wingate, Ind., while he was shucking wheat on a farm. Statehouse officials compared that lettering on the shell with those Boone inscribed on a tree when he killed a bear. The signatures bore a resemblance, they said.

If a hoax, those who examined the turtle said, the perpetrator had not lived to know the outcome. The inscription had been made years ago.

Weisenberger Grows Real Peaches—Proves It

The Highland orchard up in the Nashville territory grows more peaches than are grown around Hope—but it doesn't grow any finer or better flavored fruit.

C. J. Weisenberger, living about four miles out from Hope on the Lewisville road, brought in this morning some of the finest peaches seen this season. They were of the Elberta and Georgia Belle varieties, almost perfect in form, coloring and flavor. His orchard, Mr. Weisenberger, is loaded, the crop being heavier than for several years.

And they were good to eat, if you'll believe those who sampled them—sampled by eating about two each.

Marines Ordered Out of Nicaragua

Force of 2300 Left To Keep Order In the Republic.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP)—More than 1200 marines are being withdrawn from Nicaragua, according to a statement made today by President Hoover. Approximately 2300 of the "sea soldiers" will remain on duty.

Decision to take this action was based upon reports from Nicaragua that everything was generally orderly and that more marines were being maintained there than were necessary.

Robot Is Newest Cigarette Salesman

Mechanical robots are the newest recruits in the army of cigarette salesmen. The new machines in addition to furnishing the desired brand, say: "Thank you" at the conclusion of the sale.

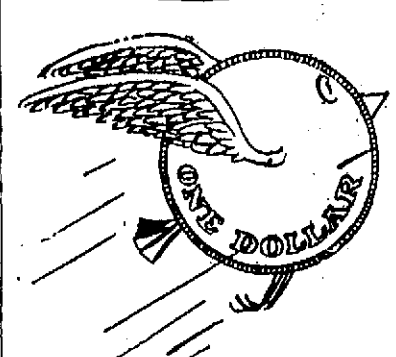

If an attempt is made to cheat, the machine shouts, "Stop thief."

Since 1919 the value of the machines produced yearly in the United States increased 328 per cent, and this year it is expected to exceed $10,000,000.

The machines are designed to keep up with the increased demand for cigarettes occasioned by recognition of their dietary value and the improved methods of toast-ing and blending. Sale of cigarettes this year is expected to be in the neighborhood of 124,000,000, if the rate of the first five months is continued. The production for the month of May alone exceeded 11,000,000,000.

Star's Stay At Home Dollars To Begin Journey Tomorrow

No. 1 and No. 2 Will Be Put In Circulation—Watch for Them.

Tomorrow The Star's Stay-at-Home Dollars will be put into circulation in Hope stores, and the staff will sharpen their pencils preparatory to telling the world what becomes of them.

This is merely to explain, so if you get a silver dollar with a shipping tag attached to it, in the course of your daily trading in Hope you'll know what it's all about.

If you get the dollar, phone 768 (The Star), give your name and address, where you received it in change, and what you bought there. There are two of these dollars, marked "No. 1" and "No. 2". Notice which one you get.

The Star will publish a complete log on each dollar as it travels around town, and if it goes away we'll hunt for it until it comes back. How many times do you suppose a dollar changes hands in Hope in a week? Which line of merchandise turns it over the quickest? If it goes away from Hope, what are the chances of it coming back again?

All these questions will be answered in the next few days. The Star's Stay-at-Home Dollars are off on their journey tomorrow.

The Hope Business and Professional Women's club will send the team from Hempstead county with hopes of their returning with honors won.

President To Name Army Commission

Will Be Formed To Devise Plan of Reducing Army-Navy Cost.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP)—President Hoover intends to establish a commission of army officers, within the general staff, to see what can be done toward reducing the military expense of the nation.

The committee, the President said today, would be charged with the duty of making an extensive investigation to determine what was obsolete, through scientific advancement and could profitably be done away with and what part of the military program could be stretched out over a longer period of time without interfering with sensible and adequate preparedness.

The President said the military expense of United States constituted a governmental budget greater than any other nation and that it was unnecessary at this time when there is less danger of a war than at any time within the past 50 years.

White and Ouachita To Be Bridged To Aid Traffic.

Asking Bids for Two Toll Bridges

LITTLE ROCK, July 23.—(AP)—Bids will be received for the construction of toll bridges over the White and Ouachita rivers, the Ouachita at Calion, in Union county, and the White at Cotter, in Baxter county, at the next meeting of the highway commission on August 15 it was announced today.

These two projects are expected to cost approximately a million dollars. Several other road and bridge jobs will be let at the same time, it was said.

The usual end of the month meeting of the commission has been disposed of for the month to give members of the commission an uninterrupted two-weeks to spend in inspecting contracts in various parts of the state.

TAVAREA, Fla., July 23.—(AP)—Lake county authorities today announced that H. W. Prescott, of Fisherman's Paradise, in Orange county, had confessed that he had beaten to death Mrs. Angie Gillis at their filling station near Mow-hawk on July 6.

Prescott, Pike and Ruffin Rogers are in jail here, Rogers as a material witness. He has corroborated Prescott's confession.

Bowman, local manager of the Morgan Utilities ice plant, was fined $50 in one case and $100 in another in municipal court today for overcharging.

The commission had fixed the rate at 50 cents per 100 pounds at the dock and Bowman was charged with selling at a gun.

Two Rum-Runners Killed In Clash On Rio Grande

Gun Battle Is Sequel To Ambushing and Killing Last Week.

UNCOVER RUM RING Say Prominent El Pasoans Involved In Smuggling Scheme.

EL PASO TEXAS, July 23.—(AP)—Two Mexican rum-runners were believed killed and three known to have been wounded in a gun battle last night between four border patrol officers and a band of 20 smugglers.

The clash was a sequel to the engagement early last Saturday between six border patrol officers in which Inspector Ivan E. Scotten was killed.

None of the Americans were injured in last night's battle in which several hundred shots were fired. The banks of the Rio Grande were being searched today for the bodies of the two rum runners believed to have been killed. The wounded smugglers were carried across the river by their comrades. H. C. Horsley, chief of the border patrol, said many prominent El Paso citizens were expected to be implicated in a huge rum-running ring following disclosures of a negro truck driver one of the five men captured in last night's battle.

She expresses deep appreciation for the friends who would have aided her but withdraws.

Paper-Power Trust Sued for Damages

Plaintiff Says Company Has Handed Him A Fast Deal.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 23.—(AP)—Suit for two and one-half million, said to be the largest damage suite ever filed in Richland county has been brought by William Lavarre, publisher of the Columbia Record, Augusta, (Ga.) Chronicle and Spartansburg, (S. C.) Herald and Journal, against the International Paper Company and the International Power & Paper Company.

The boss of the Allen household is a young gentleman about two years past who answers to the nickname of "Pete." Mr. Allen contends that "Pete" has played with the "skeeters and frogs until they'll come when he calls them and insists that the filling up of the tank and making the section sanitary will deprive "Pete" of the companionship of "steep million mosquitoes, 100 frogs and two water moccasins, both the latter being on duty in the slush pit Monday afternoon.

Still, some folks must have a place to dump their refuse, dead household pets and the like. The filling up of this stink-hole would force them to carry their filth out of town, which would be too much of a hardship. More Hope Boys To Take In C. M. T. C. In August

Jamo T. Harbni, Talbot Field, Jr., and Robert S. Watson are among the boys from Hempstead county who will leave August 1 for C. M. T. C. They will be stationed at Leavenworth instead of at St. Louis where the boys now in camp are located.

Officers said that Prescott told them that he and J. C. Pike from the Winter Garden had beaten the aged couple to death during an argument over payment for soft drink and some old alligator hides.

Prescott, Pike and Ruffin Rogers are in jail here, Rogers as a material witness. He has corroborated Prescott's confession.

Rush To Rescue of the Mosquito Pond

Say Lives of Pet Mosquitoes Endangered By Clean-Up Move.

Roy Allen and Louie Carlson, both of whom live in the neighborhood of the mosquito-breeding dumping ground on South Walnut, were discussing today the filling of the pond and its abatement as a public nuisance and a menace to the health of residents in that section of the city.

"I'm all up in the air," declared Mr. Carlson. "Why, for four years I've lived there and most the mosquitoes know me by name. No, none of them have died in that time; they just grow bigger and fatter. Going home nights I can hear them talking one to another about 'waiting until Louie comes home.'"

The boss of the Allen household is a young gentleman about two years past who answers to the nickname of "Pete." Mr. Allen contends that "Pete" has played with the "skeeters and frogs until they'll come when he calls them and insists that the filling up of the tank and making the section sanitary will deprive "Pete" of the companionship of "steep million mosquitoes, 100 frogs and two water moccasins, both the latter being on duty in the slush pit Monday afternoon.

Believe It or Not, Star Bunch Are Melon Eaters

L. J. Hubbard, good friend of Star living down Spring Hill way, sauntered in Monday afternoon with a melon of the Klondyke variety, sweet, juicy and nealy, and presented it to the gang just to show he was sorry for 'em.

It was a yellow-meat baby, weighing about 35 pounds, and when sliced up and laid out in a row—well, it disappeared, that's all.

Mr. Hubbard grows these Klondykes for home use only, his shipping melons being the usual Tom Watson and the Wonder melon now coming into favor here. He reports the crop this year abundant and the flavor of the growth excellent—and the last part of that statement the gang in this office, from "devil" in the back end to the "angel" up front, will swear to.

Conciliation Off In Carmen's Strike

Operators Refuse to Abide Board of Conciliation Findings.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP)—Secretary Davis was informed from New Orleans today that A. B. Patterson, head of the New Orleans Public Service, had refused the offers of conciliation saying the differences between the company and the striking workers were fundamental and not open to arbitration.

This information was conveyed in a telegram from W. W. Rodgers, member of the Labor department, who had been in the Louisiana city endeavoring to bring about a settlement between the owners and strikers.

SINO-RUSSIA, Unated.—(AP)—Tension in the Chinese-Russian controversy materially eased today in view of the announcement by China and Russia that both intended to observe and abide by the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Soviet troops are reported to have captured a Chinese river steamer, taking prisoners the wife and baby daughter of an American traveler.

Further reports of troop movements on the Manchurian-Siberian border are reported, but neutral observers are of the opinion that neither side has committed an overt act.

English Phone Books Bar Ads for Liquors

LONDON, July 23.—(AP)—Liquor advertisements have been barred from England's telephone books. They will be absent henceforth also from postoffice buildings and the covers of books of stamps, all of which will result in an annual loss to the government of about $100,000 in advertising revenue.

The postmaster general explained that the new policy is based on the general rule that advertisements capable of giving offense to large sections of public opinion ought not to be accepted.

The postoffice controls not only the mails, but all telephone and telegraph lines.

Newspapers Versus Magazines

SOME idea of the vast expansion of the daily press since the World War is gained from news dispatches like the one that caught our eye this morning. It was from New York, and announced that the Century magazine, one of the leading monthlies for thirty years, was abandoning the field and dropping back to a quarterly publication.

Why? The Century company said in its announcement that it was because "the monthly field is overcrowded." But national advertising was never so tremendously used as today. It is far greater, even in proportion to the increased number of magazines, than ever before.

Perhaps the real reason for the decline of the Century is the newspaper invasion of the magazine field, with serial stories, interpretative articles and enormous use of pictures. The effect upon the magazines was noticeable after the war. They did not so much decline, but they failed to progress. National advertising continued to support them, but the increase was turned largely to the daily papers.

For example, there has been only one important development in the magazine field since the war. That was the establishing of Liberty—a new weekly. The other national weeklies, Saturday Evening Post and Colliers, are important advertising mediums, but they have been substantially the same for a long time.

On the other hand, the change in the daily press has been revolutionary. What the introduction of magazine features has meant to the small city newspaper is recounted by a country editor writing to the Publishers' Auxiliary, of how he solved his circulation problem in the rural districts:

"I solved it with continuity interest features that are read in all farm homes and in practically all town homes. Now when my solicitors sell the paper for a period of six months or one year. I have more than a reasonable assurance the subscription will stick because the members of the family will, within that time, become interested in one or more of these features and look for them from issue to issue. Serial stories have, I believe, done more than any other one feature in solving this trading radius coverage for me. With the papers coming to them year after year the rural subscribers read not only these features that supplied the holding power at first but they read the town news and gradually become interested in the town as a market and social center. They get acquainted and become a real part of our community."

Worth and Cost

OWING to the well known law of supply and demand, what a commodity is worth is frequently greatly out of proportion to its cost. A striking example of this was given by Dr. Zay Jeffries not long ago in an address before an engineering society, in which he referred to the worth of that highly useful metal, tungsten.

Tungsten costs about $1 a pound, he said, but its value in reducing light bills would make it reasonably priced at $333,000 a pound for use in electric bulb filaments instead of the old carbon filament in use 20 years ago.

The nation's light bill of 800 million dollars would be about 2,900 million dollars if we had to go back to the old carbon lamp, because the tungsten filament gives four and a half times as much light as would be produced by carbon filaments with the same amount of electricity.

Through hundreds of similar scientific discoveries we are enabled to enjoy comforts and luxuries which would be entirely beyond the reach of the average person under former conditions.

So, in view of complaints concerning the high cost of living, it is only fair to consider that this is largely due to the fact that we live better than we did in "the good old days."

Hands Across the Sea!

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — Here in Washington we don't feel quite as pure as we did. The mantle of virtue and self-righteousness which we may have been wearing these last few years for the benefit of the rest of the country appears to have slipped.

The new chief of police, Major Henry G. Pratt, has been mean enough to disclose the figures on Washington crime for a period of five years and we don't seem to be showing any improvement whatever.

Local cops made 122,000 arrests last year, which outdistanced all previous records, and the total number of arrests for five years was 486,000, which is first about 90 per cent of the capital's population.

That does not mean that 90 per cent of Washingtonians have been arrested within that time, of course. One can think of quite a few friends and acquaintances whose names haven't appeared on the police blotter. But it must mean that others have been arrested all too often.

Enforcement May be Stricter

One way of regard these said figures is to assume that Washington is becoming more and more wicked.

Another way is to suggest that laws are being more effectively enforced and that crimes and misdemeanors are more difficult to commit without paying the penalty.

In the latter case it is obvious that Washingtonians are gluttons for punishment.

The facts become all the sadder as one considers just what sort of a city Washington is. In the first place, the President himself is virtually the mayor. It is he who appoints the three commissioners who govern the District of Columbia and it is to him that these three are responsible. Mr. Coolidge, incidentally, and not Mr. Hoover, has been "mayor" for the five-year period.

Congress, furthermore, is in effect the City Council. It appropriates the district expenses and is likely to raise the dickens when a senator's ashes aren't called for or when a cop is foolish enough to talk roughly to a member of the House.

Then again, so many Washingtonians are employees of the government—a class one wouldn't expect to be violating the laws established by the hand that feeds them. One might also mention that this is the headquarters of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, the Anti-Saloon League and the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Until just recently it has been the headquarters of the Ku Klux Klan itself.

In fact, a person might almost expect us to get along without any cops or any jail.

The District of Columbia has a prohibition law of its own called the Sheppard Act and it appears there were more arrests under that one last year than in any previous year, ever. They rose from 11,800 in 1925 to 14,300 in the fiscal year of 1929.

I shall wear laughter on my lips
Though in my heart is pain
God's sun is always brightest after

I shall sing down my little

Though in my breast the dull ache

The song birds come again after

I shall walk eager still for what

and we fully realize that our hopes of getting it lays in making attractive prices on our entire stock. Prices low enough to interest the public. Prices that represent real savings on every article in stock. We are selfish, even though we may not realize it. Selfishness is the basis of all thrift—it's selfishness that prompts you to want to save money—and that keeps you from paying just any old price for a thing you want.
And here is where we are selfish—we want the money to pay our debts. We realize that to sell more goods we must cut prices lower and lower, and we must make it worth while to patronize us—must help you save money. We are entirely selfish in our motives. We are trying to help ourselves; we realize it can only be done by helping you. We must gratify your selfishness in order to gratify our own. You will get more for your money than you ever got before. We will sell more goods than we ever sold before. You will save money on the goods you need. We will get the cash we need. We both benefit. We are not selling goods for less than cost of raw material—no such bunk. It can't be done. We are simply sacrificing profits to GET CASH QUICKLY—NO BUNK—No wild exaggerations—just meeting a business condition with a logical remedy. EVERYTHING IS GUARANTEED TO BE EXACTLY AS ADVERTISED.

“Now son, I’ll tell you—”

First of all, that running a successful household involves the application of the same business principles required in the management of any other well conducted going concern. Your salary represents the gross business -- this, minus expenses, is the PROFIT of your “firm”. Don’t let “expenses” eat up your “profits”.

Both you and your partner, over there, can cut down your expenses by investigating the market before you do any buying. When we buy supplies down at the plant, Mr. Brown, our Purchasing Agent, acquaints himself with the market through his current catalogs -- price lists, and various other reports, so that when we buy, we buy RIGHT.

You can follow the same plan, read the various ads in your newspaper, they cover your market pretty thoroughly -- Keep posted on your market, investigate before you buy and you’ll buy “RIGHT”.

Johnny Hall Signed To Box A Ten-Round Semi-Final To Show.

If everybody advertised puts in an appearance at the Rink Thursday night and is ready for business it will be a boxing card worth going a long way to see. That's just considering the semi-final and the main event, not taking into account any of the preliminaries.

Johnny Hall, Little Rock negro who is fast as a flash and knows plenty about taking care of No. 1, is to go ten rounds with Siki, the Black Panther, from El Dorado. Hall has shown here twice and is good, while Siki will have the backing of a man of the fellows from over to the oil field's big town.

In the main event, Jack Steele hails trouble in the form of one Dub Watson, from up to Seminole, Okla., where they grow wild and rough. Steele established a following here by his fight against Selman and there are many who think he will take a lot of licking before he likes it. Watson isn't known here save by a few who have seen him work but they appear to believe he has just what it will take to entertain Mr. Steele all of one hectic half-hour.

Meantime, preparations are steadily going forward for the big show on August 8, date of the Mel-on Festival, when promoters Robins and Russell plan staging the biggest bout ever offered to a crowd of Arkansas fans.

France was recently excited over the Question Mark, while Germany worried with the mark question.

Youngsters will probably pass along the news that a New York father dropped dead while spanking his son.

manager of the club at the start of the season if he had not sided in with his ball players at Houston last fall in a money argument with the heads of the Cardinal farm chain.

Must Have a Winner
Roger Peckinpaugh stands high with the owners of the Cleveland Indians, but the fans are beginning to howl at him. Cleveland is one town that demands a winner before the customer will be fired by his employer. Tomers will contribute. Peck won't be fired by his employers, but there is a custom in baseball that the manager will step out when he lacks the support of his patrons.

May Get Disgusted
Uncle Wilbert Robinson may step down from his job as president and manager of the Brooklyn Robins in disgust. The fans are with Robby in Brooklyn and they always will be. But the owners are not. The stock of the club is owned equally by the McKeevers and Ebbets interests. The McKeevers have been gunning for Robby for more than a year and the Ebbets faction has been staunch in his support.

If Robby hadn't been a great fighter at heart he would have thrown up the job when McKeever offered to buy his contract. But he is a year older and he is not a young man and eventually he will get tired of the petty quibbling and get out of the game to follow his hunting dogs and play with his fishing rods.

Scalps Ready for Knife
There are rumors circulating around the major leagues that must be disturbing to a number of managers. It is reported that five of them are to be removed from their positions soon at the finish of the season.

Jack Hendricks, of the Cincinnati Reds; Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Cleveland Indians; Lena Blackburne, of Chicago White Sox; Billy Southworth, of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Uncle Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn Robins, are the managers said to be ready for the gate.

They are all under contract and some to them are said to be in the good grace of the owners, but when the fans get on their business comes first and baseball contracts don't hold.

Cincinnati Moaning
Letters piling into the sports department indicate that Cincinnati fans are not pleased with the results achieved by Hendricks this year. Cincinnati is not one of those towns where they demand a pennant winner. The fans there supported the club through years of adversity. But the customers apparently think that the club would do better under another manager.

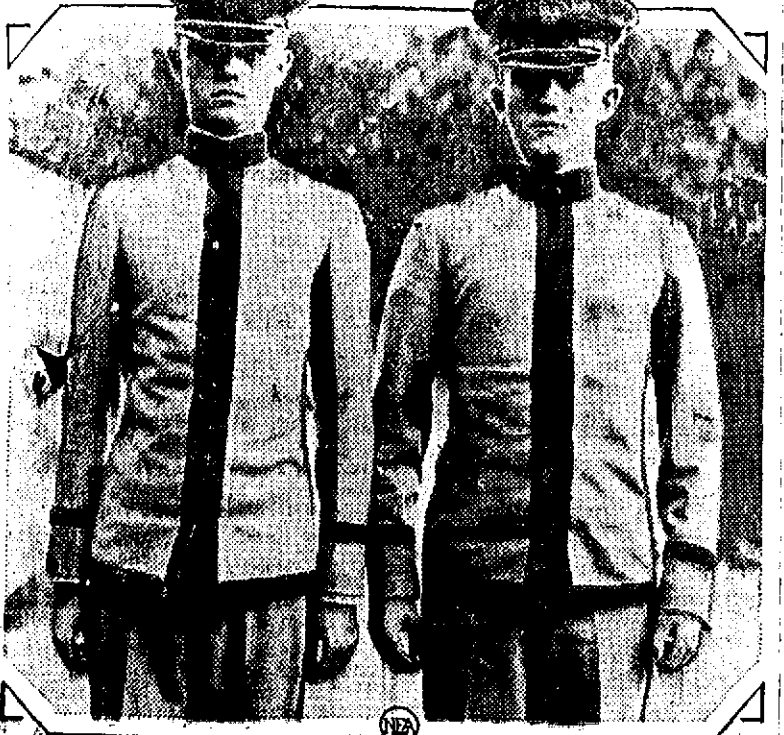

Here is Real Danger
There is no doubt that Lena Blackburne is in real peril in Chicago. The White Sox have played to small houses while the Cubs have been making new records and Comiskey has a way of blaming the failure of a poor team on the manager. It was reported recently in Texas that Jakey Atz, for years the highly successful manager of the Fort Worth club, has been prompted to quit his job by the promise of succeeding Blackburne.

No Heart in St. Louis
The St. Louis Cardinals have no patience with managers. They fire them when they win pennants and finish runner up. So, after the terrible slump the club has been suffering it is not surprising to hear that Southworth will be deposed and that Frank Snyder will be moved in from the farm.

Snyder would have been the

TOURIST SEASON IN FULL SWING AT GLACIER PARK

GLACIER PARK, Mont., July 22.—Tourist travel to Glacier National Park for the first month of the 1929 season shows considerable increase over that of the same period last year. Travelers have registered from nearly every state in the Union and quite a few from foreign countries. Hotel, auto-stage and trail saddle horse facilities are the best in the history of the park, government inspections show. While the male visitor is more noticeable on the veranda "drinking in the scenery" from comfortable chairs the number of young women hikers on the Rocky Mountain trails exceeds that of any previous season. Two women walk through the park to every man who dares this endurance test, it is estimated.

Many novels have a moral and the best sellers have their immoral.

DESCENDANTS OF EARLY SETTLERS PLAY IN FILM

GENEE ADORF and WILLIAM COLLIER, Jr. in "TIDE OF EMPIRE"

Four hundred gaily clad extras, most of them actual descendants of the early Spanish settlers in California, held a picturesque revel at Verdugo, in Southern California, when a spectacular Spanish fiesta was staged as part of Peter B. Kyne's "Tide of Empire," massive drama of the California gold rush which will be at the Saenger theatre Wednesday only.

Decorated ox carts, Spanish dances, a frog race and a big horse race were among the main events of the scene in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacle, which was produced by Cosmopolitan and will be presented with synchronized score and sound effects. The dancers from the famous Mission Play were among the entertainment features.

Reene Adorf and George Duray head a big cast in the new production, staged and directed by Allan Dwan. The discovery of gold, formation of the Wells Fargo company, bandit battles and Vigilante episodes are vivid details.

The story opens with tranquil California of the Spanish dons and then depicts the ruthless fashion in which their civilization was swept away by the onrushing hordes of barbarian gold-seekers and the inevitable struggle that took place between them for supremacy. A beautiful love theme is interwoven throughout the plot.

Young Ump Keeps Upper Hand; McGraw One of His Victims

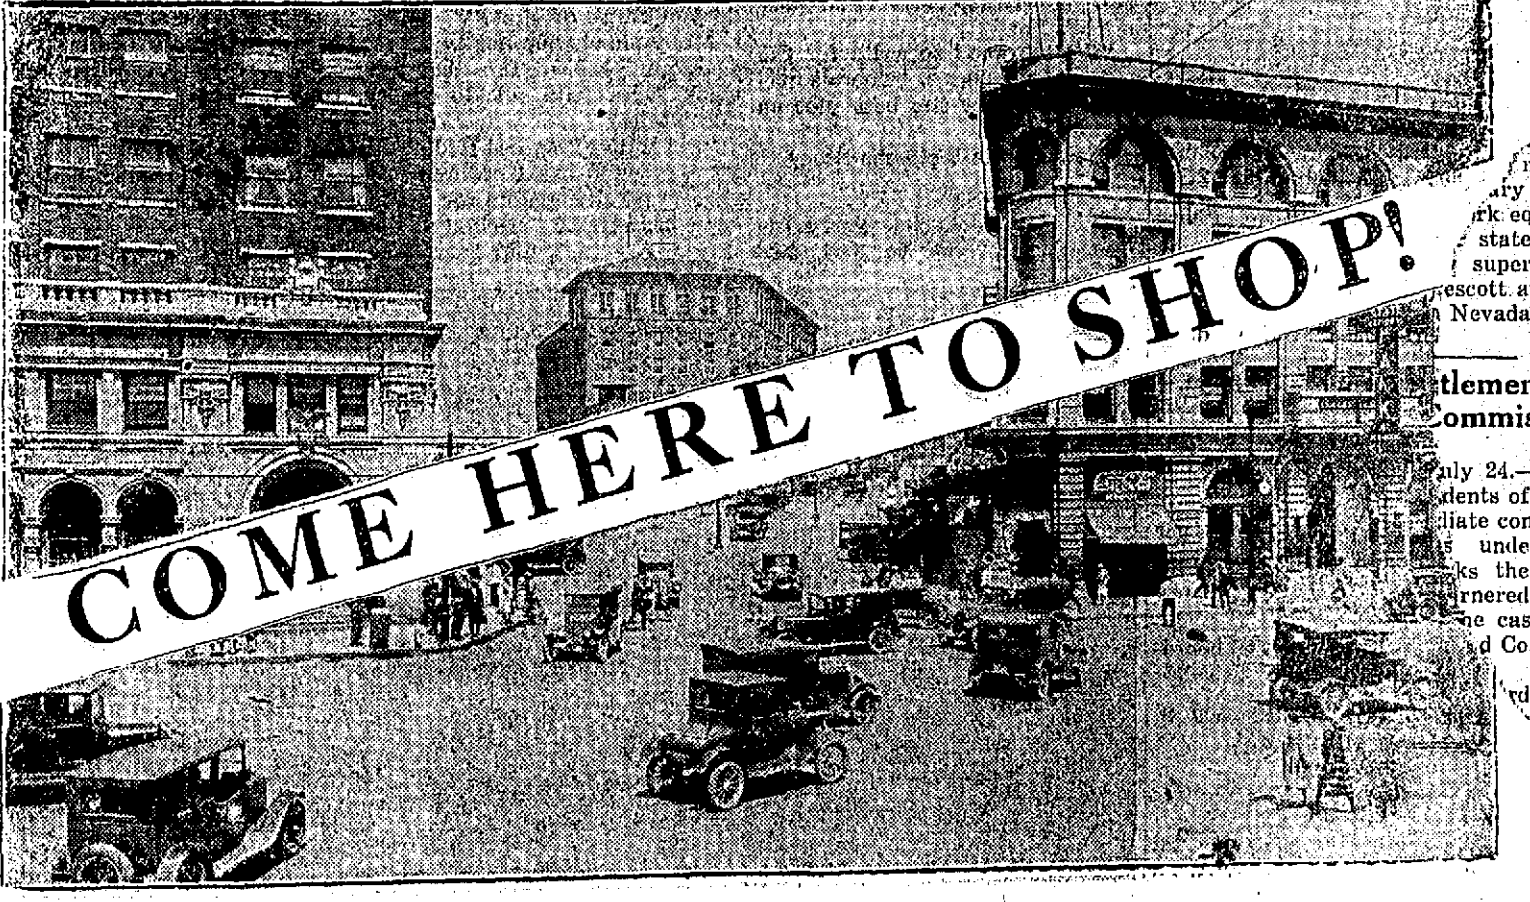

NEW YORK, July 23.—(P)—Ball players and managers who try to abuse George Magerkurth, serving his first year as a National league umpire, do so at their own risk.

Magerkurth, a six-footer and a heavyweight, came to the Heydler circuit by way of the American association and the Pacific Coast league and he is a hard-boiled arbiter.

He added to his reputation as a strict disciplinarian by putting John McGraw out of his own ball park. The little Napoleon had not been ousted from any park for several seasons.

Two days after this incident Magerkurth was officiating behind the plate at Ebbets field in Brooklyn when the visiting catcher, a veteran, tried to bowl him out. He drew a quick ticket to the showers.

The young arbiter who came to the National league highly recommended for his work in the American association and coast loop checks the boys pretty closely on their loose language. He was abused verbally by a big American association player in a game three years ago. Magerkurth put the unruly one out of the game and went to his room that night to demand an apology. He got it and the player got a sound thrashing for not apologizing voluntarily.

The SHINING TALENT

By ELEANOR EARLY © 1929 BY NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED Molly Burnham, reporter has come off the celebrated Barrows trial. Barrows, wealthy and socially prominent, was tried for the murder of Bernice Bradford, a rather famous woman, beautiful and undeniably immoral. To everybody's surprise he was acquitted. Molly covered the trial in brilliant fashion, and as reward of merit has been given a bonus and a week off.

Molly happens to be very much in love with a poor young man named Jack Wells, but she has decided to postpone her marriage until such time as Jack has saved a little money. Meanwhile she is bending all her efforts to the task of writing something really worth while. She is a clever little girl, and will probably succeed.

One night as she is revolving in her mind the plot of a story, her bell rings. It is Red Flynn, police court reporter, with astonishing news of the Bradford murder. Red says that he has just left a boy named Perry Ingersoll who was engaged to Bernice Bradford. He declares that Perry and Bernice were about to be married. And Red admits that he doesn't know exactly what he is going to do with the boy. Meantime, Perry is sleeping in Red's bed.

"It's too good to write for the paper," he declares. "There's material there for the best plot on Broadway!"

Now Go On With the Story CHAPTER XII The plot thickened. Perry Ingersoll, according to Red, had if he could do anything for her. Naturally, he thought of his flock. It would have been sweet for his mother, wouldn't it, having him mixed up with a girl like Bernice, and the papers full of it? Besides if he'd talked, he'd have been suspected himself. Imagine if he'd kicked up a rumpus there, and anybody's come in!

Molly laughed hysterically. "You know what would have happened?" she cried. "We'd all have remembered that poem of Oscar Wilde's about the man who was hung for killing his sweetheart, and we'd have quoted these lines:

"And blood and wine were on his hands When they found him with dead, The poor dead woman whom he loved, And murdered in her bed."

"Attain!" he approved. "That's the old punch, Molly. Sob stuff straight from the muses. Well, what do you think dear? Is there a plot? or am I wrong? Is there a plot there for a play, or isn't there?"

"Of course there is," she agreed. "It could open with the trial of Barrows."

"And sum up all the evidence in the first act," broke in Red. "Make a regular mystery of it, you know. Might even make the testimony point toward some other guy. Then switch it around again, and when you got the audience thinking it was Barrows, suddenly acquit him. Make a great anti-climax of that."

"Then open the third act with that place on Peacock Hill," interrupted Molly eagerly, "and the Ingersoll kid crying."

"How'd you end it?" demanded Red. "Make a mystery out of it!"

"Oh, no," demurred Molly.

married, dear. 'On to Gehenna, like the poet says, 'or up to the throne, he travels faster who travels alone.' You don't want to forget that Molly."

"I won't," she promised. "You haven't any idea, Red, how anxious I am to have a career. Why, the very thought of writing a play—feel my heart, Red!"

"It was beating, beneath her ruffled blouse, like a fluttering bird."

"I'm so excited," she confessed, "and so absolutely crazy, that I think I could write your play, Red."

"My play?" he scoffed. "It's your play dear. Will you get to work on it, Molly?"

"Oh I will!" she promised. "I will!"

"And—happily—thoughtlessly—she threw her arms about his neck."

"You dear old Red!" she cried. Red kept his arms stiffly at his sides and the color drained from his thin, flushed cheeks, so that the freckles stood out, big and bold, like a small boy's.

"I'll write nights," she declared. "Every night. I'll begin tomorrow."

But the next day Molly was unexpectedly assigned to cover a murder trial in another state.

They called the defendant, an anarchist and a Bolshevik. But that was wrong, for he was just a gunman, and it was a mistake to call him long, brave names. Because many people came to believe him unjustly persecuted, and some thought he was being prosecuted for his convictions, rather than for the murder of which he stood accused.

It was the murder of an old man who was night watchman of a factory where the defendant was said to have entered, for the purpose of robbery. Chicago knew the defendant for a gunman and his record was bad. There was, however, a good deal of hysterical sympathy for him.

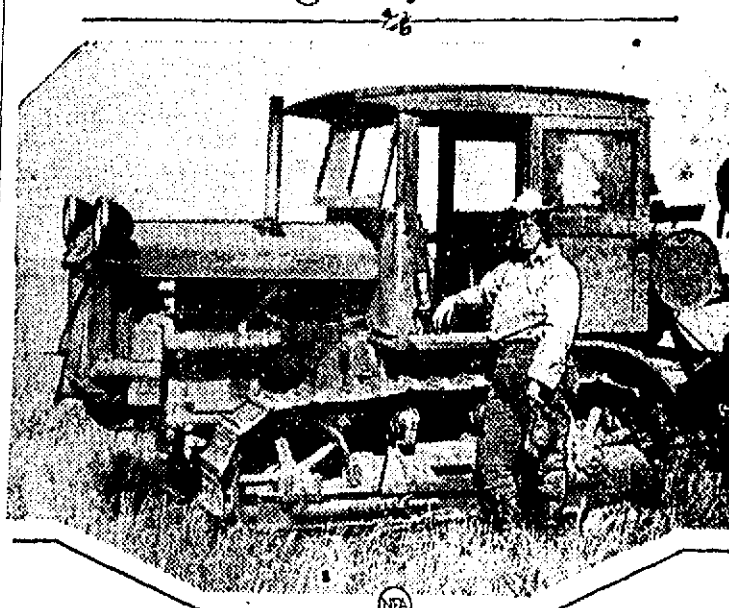

The judge, who was said to be prejudiced against the accused man, was fearful of an attack, and had requested police protection. State witnesses were also protected. And the jury would be guarded day and night.

The city editor called Molly to his desk before she had time to slip off her coat.

"You're familiar with the Mandinello case, of course," he said. "But I want to tell you about the elaborate precautions they're taking for the protection of Judge Brewster and the witnesses for the prosecution. It's as obvious. It's as your life is worth these days to take issue with a gun-shoot his brother.
